DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 12/14/2005 has been considered by the examiner.

Drawings

2. The drawings were received on 12/14/2005. These drawings are accepted.

Specification

3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hakimi et al (US 6,370,297 B1).
6. Hakimi et al teach an optical apparatus comprising a pump guiding fiber (16) comprising a fiber cladding and a fiber core. The pump guiding fiber (16) includes an attachment section comprising a straight core section and a tapered core section (17). A receiving fiber (12) comprising an inner clad (14) is attached to the attachment section of the pump guiding fiber (16). The pump guiding fiber (16) is attached at one end thereof to an optical pump source (19) such as a semiconductor laser diode. The receiving fiber is double clad including an inner clad

(14), and outer clad (15), a protective outer jacket (20), and a core (13) doped with a rare-earth element such as Er or Yb. As can be seen in figure 1, the ratio between the minimum cross sectional area of the tapered core section taken along the optical axis of the fiber and the cross sectional area of the straight core section taken along the optical axis of the fiber is very small and is clearly within the range of 0.01 to 0.50. See column 2, lines 49-67, and column 3, lines 1-16.

7. Claims 1, 2, 5, and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Heflinger et al (EP 1065764 A2).

8. Heflinger et al teach an optical apparatus in figure 7 comprising a pump guiding fiber (25) comprising a fiber cladding (21) and a fiber core. The pump guiding fiber (25) includes an attachment section comprising a straight core section and a tapered core section (102). A receiving fiber (20) comprising an inner clad (26) is attached to the attachment section of the pump guiding fiber (25). The receiving fiber is double clad including an inner clad (26), and outer clad (22), and a core (18) doped with a rare-earth element such as Er or Yb. As can be seen in figure 7, the ratio between the minimum cross sectional area of the tapered core section taken along the optical axis of the fiber and the cross sectional area of the straight core section taken along the optical axis of the fiber is very small and is clearly within the range of 0.01 to 0.50. As seen in figure 7, the divergence angle of light in the pump fiber (25) α_f and the receiving fiber (20) α_r are approximately the same. Therefore, the k constant in the relationship ($\alpha_f = k\alpha_r$), is approximately 1. See paragraphs 13-16 and 29.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Valentin et al (US 5,999,673) could be used as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) to reject at least claim 1. Nishimura et al (US 2002/0106159 A1) could be used as prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(a or e) to reject at least claim 1.
